ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A device is presented including a host controller capable of attaching a quantity of queue heads to a frame list.  The quantity of queue heads are attached to the frame list before any transaction descriptors where split-isochronous transaction descriptors are supported.